

Project Free Our Knowledge

A collective action platform for researchers

- Scholarly publishing is inefficient, expensive and promotes bad research
- Every article and review we donate to a journal increases its value
- Individually, researchers feel pressured to support 'prestigious' commercial journals or risk their career prospects
- Collectively, we are powerful and can drive change in scholarly publishing
- Free Our Knowledge: Researchers pledge to adopt open science practices, subject to there being a critical mass of support in their research community
