

surge, including the film industry. We have better technologies, and the film making crews are more and more professional, so there is no doubt that the Chinese film industry will develop very fast in the following 10 years.

- (2) 网购: I think shopping on the Internet will be more popular. Without stepping out of your home, you can get nearly any item on the Internet through a few clicks of your mouse. Customers could make a comparison between different websites and select the best one.
- (3) 书: No, the book will never change its role in the future.
- (4) 玩具: Toy makers are trying to meet the changing demands of children by designing various toys. So the toy industry will be a very potential industry in the future.